DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vahala et. al., U.S.P. No. 6,633,696.

Vahala 696' teaches (Figs.1-17) an optical modulator device including a waveguide input/output 12,18 and a resonator 20 (the resonator is a microdisk or folded cavity resonator with a Q that can be less than 6000) which utilizes a state selective device 22,24 wherein the resonator can include a quantum well device that utilizes InP based semiconductor materials and the resonator has a resonant wavelength being coupled to the waveguide between the input/output ports such that at least 10% of the light traveling in the waveguide is coupled to the resonator 20 with the resonator comprising a material having first and second selectable state that can include absorption or refractive index variations and can include including critical coupling and non-critical coupling states that are selectable by a signal, which clearly, fully meets Applicant's claimed limitations.
